About Congress

It gives us immense pleasure to invite you to participate in the 12th World Congress of Chronomedicine (WCC 2026), which will be held from December 3rd to 5th, 2026, at Chandrodaya Mandir, Vrindavan, Uttar Pradesh, India.

As you are aware, the incidence of circadian rhythm disorders is increasing rapidly across the world due to changing lifestyles, work cultures, and modern living patterns. These disturbances are closely associated with metabolic disorders, sleep abnormalities, glucose intolerance, dyslipidemia, and other chronic health conditions. Fortunately, many of these disorders can be prevented and managed through timely interventions and healthy lifestyle practices.

The human body functions through a highly complex internal biological clock system that regulates sleep, metabolism, hormonal balance, and overall health. Recent advances in chronomedicine have opened new avenues for understanding and managing various diseases linked to circadian rhythm disturbances.

In alignment with these objectives, WCC 2026 will provide a global platform for researchers, clinicians, academicians, and healthcare professionals to discuss recent developments and emerging trends in chronomedicine and circadian biology.

We look forward to your valuable participation in this prestigious scientific event.

PROF NARSINGH VERMA
SECRETARY GENERAL ISC

Our Venue

Chandrodaya Mandir , Vrindavan, india

Vrindavan Chandrodaya Mandir is one of India's most iconic cultural and spiritual landmarks, located in the sacred city of Vrindavan, Uttar Pradesh. Strategically situated within the National Capital Region (NCR), the venue is well connected through major road, rail, and air transportation networks, providing convenient access for delegates and visitors from across India and around the world. Its proximity to Delhi, Agra, Mathura, and major international airports ensures smooth travel arrangements for national and international participants.

The venue offers a unique blend of world-class infrastructure, architectural excellence, and a serene environment, making it an exceptional location for the World Congress of Chronomedicine (WCC) 2026. The campus is designed to host large-scale academic and international events, featuring spacious conference facilities, advanced audiovisual systems, modern meeting spaces, and an inspiring atmosphere suitable for keynote lectures, scientific sessions, panel discussions, workshops, and research presentations.

Surrounded by the rich cultural and spiritual heritage of Vrindavan, the venue provides an enriching experience for researchers, clinicians, academicians, healthcare professionals, industry leaders, and students from around the world. The area is supported by a wide range of hotels, guest houses, healthcare facilities, and essential services, ensuring a comfortable and well-organized stay for all participants.

The magnificent setting of Vrindavan Chandrodaya Mandir offers a distinctive environment where science, health, culture, spirituality, and human well-being converge, making it an ideal host venue for the World Congress of Chronomedicine (WCC) 2026, scheduled from 3–5 December 2026. The congress will bring together leading experts, researchers, clinicians, and innovators to explore the latest advances in chronobiology, chrononutrition, chronotherapy, circadian medicine, sleep science, and precision healthcare, fostering international collaboration and scientific excellence in a truly inspiring setting.
